

Thanksgiving Vibes

A poem by Abi Huerta

On Thanksgiving Day, everything seems nice and bright
The maple trees have changed and the dinner is right in sight

Families start gathering

The warm fire is crackling

Stuffing or veggies on your dish

Turkey, chicken, or maybe some fish

Every time there is something new

Maybe some pie or maybe some stew

Who are you thankful for?

Do you even know?

Well... here's what I'm thankful for..

That turkey on the stove.
